Keep DDT Away From Dairy Cows

Experts Cite Danger Of Milk Contamination

The U. S. department of agriculture's entomologists have issued a warning that DDT should not be used for insect control on dairy cows.

Even small amounts of DDT in food such as milk—a universal diet for infants and small children—might prove harmful in time, according to toxicologists of the food and drug administration who have studied the subject for several years. They say presence of the chemical in milk would be contrary to the food, drug and cosmetic act.

It may be a temptation to use DDT in order to keep your dairy herd looking as sleek and contented as these animals, but authorities warn against it.

The entomologists now recommend methoxychlor, another effective insecticide, be substituted for DDT to control insect pests on dairy cows.

Federal entomologists make no change in their recommendations for the use of DDT in controlling insect pests on other livestock, including beef cattle.

The department's entomologists, chemists and veterinarians, cooperating in the investigation of the toxicology of DDT and other insecticides, say the application of DDT directly to milk cows for controlling insects results in the presence of small quantities of the insecticide in the milk. They say also that DDT in small quantities can be detected sometimes in milk following ordinary use of the insecticide for fly control in dairy barns.

The bureau of entomology and plant quarantine has repeatedly cautioned that forage treated with DDT and other chlorinated hydrocarbon insecticides should not be fed to dairy animals or to livestock being finished for slaughter. A number of new insecticides are under investigation by federal entomologists for controlling insects on cows and in dairy establishments.

Earthworm Helpers

Earthworms thrive and prosper under good soil management. They will do a better soil conditioning job when fertilizer is added to the soil. And fertilizer is always more efficient when worms are present.

U. S. department of agriculture research has demonstrated that in tests made at the Beltsville, Md., experiment station. Those research men found that adding fertilizer boosted hay yields the equivalent of 32 tons per acre on soil containing worms. Without earthworms, the yield increase due to fertilizer averaged 28 tons.

The research men found other evidence that earthworms prosper under good soil management. They made an earthworm census in rotation plot experiments. They counted five times as many earthworms per acre in a soil cropped to a three-year rotation of row crops, small grains and hay, as they found in soil under constant row cropping.

Taffy Leads Search Party To Find His Lost Master

LAWTON, MICH.—A little spaniel led more than a thousand searchers to his little master who had been lost in the woods for almost five hours.

The child, Douglas Stofer, was found sleeping among moldy leaves a mile northwest of his home. He was unharmed.

Mrs. Harold Stofer said her son disappeared from a vineyard while she was picking grapes about 6 p.m. Neighbors helped the family hunt for an hour and a half, then officers were notified.

State police and the sheriff's office sent squad cars. At the same time townspeople turned out en masse. In the lead was Douglas' little cocker spaniel, Taffy.

About 10:30 Taffy found the trail. Frisking back and forth, wagging his tail frantically, he led a dozen men into a patch of woods. Five minutes later the child's jacket was found on the limb of a tree.

Taffy began circling a spot in the woods, barking. Roy Noble of Lawton dashed to the spot and picked up the child. Sleepy and hardly aware of what had happened, Douglas was rushed home to bed.

Canada Gets U.S. Bootleg As Hooch Traffic Reverses

SAULT STE. MARIE — Bootleg liquor has changed its course between the United States and Canada. Once it was from Canada to the U. S., but now it's vice versa. And John Law, which once tried to deter its journey from north to south, is just as strict on its traffic the other way.

A mother of six children, Mrs. Corella LeSage, was arraigned here on charges of selling beer without a license. She admitted selling beer to Canadians who crossed the St. Mary's River.

She said most of these were from the Garden River Indian Reserve, near Sault, Ont. The river is only a few hundred feet wide at the place where Mrs. LeSage is charged with selling the beer.

Sheriff's officers raided her home and found six cases of beer on the premises. Mrs. LeSage said she bought beer for $4 a case and sold it for $6.

Heel Flies Ofttimes Cause Much Discomfort to Cattle

If your cattle high-tail across the pasture as if they were running for their lives, there's a good chance that heel flies are causing the trouble. The same is often true when cattle spend their time standing in a pond or creek.

Dr. N. D. Levine, parasite specialist with the University of Illinois, says the heel fly doesn't bite. But it does scare the cows, causing them to lose weight.

Three-fourths of U. S. fleet is in "mothballs."

First World School Is In Copenhagen, Honors Bernadotte

COPENHAGEN — Children lately began attending what is believed to be the first real "world school" which opened in Copenhagen recently. It is called the Bernadotte school, after the late Palestine mediator.

It aims at "training children to meet the needs of social life within their own country and qualify them to become active members of a world community."

Some 270 pupils attended the school on its opening day. They came from Britain, Bulgaria, Denmark, France, the Netherlands, China, Spain, Sweden, Czechoslovakia, the United States, Poland and South Africa.

Their parents are embassy officials, doctors, reporters and other professional and businessmen residents in Scandinavia. More than 200 other children were placed on a steadily growing waiting list.

The idea for starting such a school was born three years ago, in the fall of 1946, when G. J. Arvin principal of the Danish Teachers College, wrote an article entitled "The Danish School of Tomorrow" in a Danish educational journal. It was read by Mrs. Mary Stewart, widow of a United States professor, and she was profoundly impressed by it.

On Sept. 15, 1947, 600 persons from countries all over the world attended a meeting to discuss the idea and 400 children were informally registered as prospective pupils if, and when, the school opened.

For the next two years, preparations went ahead to find funds and teachers for the school. Funds were the main problem. But money was found and progress was made.

He said in an interview that the school, which is co-educational, would aim above all at a broad international culture. He said he hoped that the students and teachers of the Bernadotte school would be able to collaborate with other similar schools now being founded in Britain and the United States.

The school is open to children of all nationalities, regardless of race, religion or economic level.

Pandora's Box Was No Match For Mail Boxes

PITTSBURGH — Every mail box is a potential "Pandora's Box." That is the opinion of Charles F. Musiol, general foreman of the post office claims-inquiry department here.

Musiol bases his assertion upon the variety of items taken from the street boxes each day by mail collectors.

Pittsburgh has 3,000 mail boxes within the city limits, and each gives up at least one mailed-by-accident article every day.

Cigarettes to Cats

The items range from lighted cigarettes tossed in by pranksters, to snoopy cats or house-hunting turtles. Recently, a postman was challenged by an irate garter snake that evidently had decided that the dark, roomy confines of the mail box made an ideal maternity ward.

Tipplers often mistake the letter drops for trash baskets and deposit their empty bottles for the mailman. Other folks toss half-eaten sandwiches, gum wrappers and garbage into the "convenient" boxes.

Often, a cat lover will be blessed with a litter of kittens and simultaneously cursed with the job of giving them away. An easy method, some feel, is to drop the whole family into the mail box with a note instructing the postal authorities to "find them a good home." Other cats, just curious, find their way into the box and then can't get out. As often as not, their liberator is clawed when he sticks his arm in to scoop up letters.

Occupational Hazard

Another occupational hazard faced by the postman is the possibility of being stuck by pins of costume jewelry that slip from the clothing of letter-mailing women.

Secretaries, Musiol believes, are the greatest contributors to his "collection." In their last-minute haste to get rid of the mail and catch a trolley home, they dump lipsticks, false teeth, money, compacts, cornplasters, keys, spectacles and other items into the drops.

No matter what the intruding article might be or how it got there, the postman delivers it to Musiol's department in the federal building. There it remains for 30 days, while the owner may claim it.

Rainbows in Living Room Not to Be Exposed Soon

PASSAIC, N. J.—It will be at least a decade before you can have rainbows in your living room, Dr. Allen B. Du Mont, one of the "big three" television manufacturers says color television is between 10 and 20 years away.

The federal communications commission is currently holding hearings on whether to authorize color telecasts.

"I think the FCC will postpone the thing until they have something decent to go ahead with," said Du Mont. "There has been no real change in either the CBS or RCA systems in the last three years.

"We are experimenting with half a dozen methods ourselves. But you can't mass a foolproof color system overnight. And there just isn't a system ready yet that is commercially feasible."

The FCC announced in advance of its hearings that it wouldn't approve any color system that would make television sets now on the market obsolete.

Du Mont believes that by 1953 there will be 13,500,000 video boxes in use, 1000 TV stations on the air, and some 950,000 persons in the mushrooming new industry.

The stocky, 48 year old scientist turned businessman began at the bottom. In 1931 the young inventor made the biggest decision of his life—"to be my own boss."

He began turning out cathode ray tubes in a remodeled garage.

"Our sales for the first year totaled exactly $30," he recalled, "and we lost money for six straight years."

But by 1941 the firm had an annual gross of $600,000. In 1948 it had grown to 27 million dollars, and this year Du Mont expects it will reach 45 to 50 million dollars.

He has his own television network now and just this week dedicated a two million dollar plant at East Paterson, N. J., capable of turning out a TV set every 20 seconds.

Du Mont has patented more than 80 inventions himself and still tinkers a couple of hours a day with some 60 TV sets he has set up in a laboratory near his home.

"I used to keep them in the house, but my wife screamed so much I had to move them out to a lab," he said.

He feels that radio will soon be secondary to television and believes this is already true in the larger cities. And he stubbornly contests the contention by some that radio will retain its dominance during daytime hours.

"We already have a bigger audience on some of our daytime TV programs than competing radio stations," he said.
